Todd Roth of Thomson Reuters fills seventh voting member slot in inkjet user group

CHICAGO, March 22, 2016 – thINK, an independent community of Canon Solutions America production print customers, today announced that it has added a new member to its board. Todd Roth, Vice President – Core Publishing Solutions at Thomson Reuters will fill the seventh voting member slot.

“We’re pleased that Todd has agreed to join our board,” said Mark DeBoer, Board President. “His background in high-volume, short- and long-run, book production will increase the board’s diversity, giving us the ability to better represent all members of the thINK community.”

Roth and his team were instrumental in reshaping Core Publishing Solutions, creating production flexibility and scalability for the digital age. He also serves on the Canon Solutions America Digital Print advisory council (DPAC), which meets semiannually to discuss current industry trends, market changes and business conditions and provide feedback to the Production Print business unit.

“Todd is a true innovator,” said Victor Bohnert, thINK Executive Director. “His input, opinions, and contributions will be welcomed as we continue to build the thINK community and develop content and sessions for thINK 2016.”

“I am proud to be a part of this board and the thINK community,” said Roth. “Together, we’re driving the business of inkjet forward.”
